

Research Study about Sensory Rooms in Public Buildings

Deakin University Occupational Therapy researchers are conducting research to learn more about sensory rooms in public buildings. The research focuses on:

Who uses sensory / quiet rooms in public buildings?

Why people use sensory / quiet rooms in public buildings?

What people like and don't like about sensory / quiet rooms in public buildings?

If you would like to tell us your experiences and opinions, you can do this in an online survey or by speaking to a researcher in an online interview.

You are eligible to take part in this study if:

- ✓ You have used, or considered using, a sensory / quiet room in a public building during the last 12 months;
- ✓ Are aged 18 years or over;
- ✓ You are able to communicate comfortably in English.

Please follow this link for more details:

https://researchsurveys.deakin.edu.au/jfe/form/SV\_6PulyxwrRDqLyzY

If you would like further information, please email Isaac Hale (Student Researcher, ihale@deakin.edu.au) or Valerie Watchorn (Principal Researcher, valerie.watchorn@deakin.edu.au).

This study has received Deakin University ethics approval number 2023-076